Forest Notes.

White pine and yellow pine are the woods most used for boxes, and each contributes more than a billion feet to the box industry annually.

The annual cut of British Columbia timber is approximately 2 billion feet. There are 420 mills and 790 logging camps in the province, employing about 60,000 men.

The Massachusetts forestry association offers as a prize the planting of fifty acres of white pine, to the town which gains first place in a contest for town forests.

The Boise national forest in Idaho had 30 fires during the past summer, yet 28 were held down to less than 10 acres, and these 15 were less than one-quarter of an acre. The supervisor says this success was due to a lookout tower, and to efficient telephone and heliograph service.

The timber industry represents 37 per cent of the annual production of wealth in British Columbia.

Lumbermen in the United States use more than four and a half billion board feet of lumber each year or more than one-tenth of the entire lumber cut of the country.

Of two million sheep annually grazed in the state of Utah, more than a million are on the national forests, or, including lambs which are fattening for market on the forest ranges, over a million and three quarters.

In addition to his own fire detection system, the supervisor of the Palisade national forest, Idaho, was notified of each fire by from five to ten different local settlers, who thus showed their cooperation in working for fire suppression.

The Uinta mountains of Utah, included within the Wasatch, Uinta, and Ashley national forests, should become a favorite recreation region, because of the many small lakes within depressions scooped out by glacial drifts. Seventy such lakes can be counted from Reid's peak, and one particular township, 36 miles square, contains more than a hundred.

What We Buy From Europe.

Washington, D. C., December 1.

The Department of Commerce today issued a statement showing the different kinds of articles imported into the United States from European countries. The compilation of these data was made necessary in order to intelligently answer the numerous queries received, since the European war began, from merchants and manufacturers in practically every country in the world. According to the report the United States is dependent upon England for a large portion of the cotton goods consumed in this country, approximately 36,000,000 yards of cloth, valued at $20,000,000, being imported into the United States annually.

Germany supplies the American trade with a large quantity of chemicals, and last year sold $20,000,000 worth to United States merchants. Other important articles imported from Germany to the United States are cotton goods, palm oil, potash, salts, wood pulp, toys, machinery, cutlery, gloves, silks, paper goods, clover and sugar beet seed, rice flour, cocoa, spirits, wines and malt liquors.

France supplies the United States with a large amount of luxuries, among the most important being silks, art works, autos and wines. We also import perfumery, diamonds and motion picture films from this country.

Italy supplies large quantities of macaroni, fruits and nuts, olive oil, prepared vegetables, cheese, still wines, art works, hats, argols and distilled oils. Netherlands is a leading source of diamonds and wrapper tobacco, and also sends us hides, fish, spices, tin and paper stock. Belgium is our largest source of diamonds, and also sends us much rubber, hides and furs, and linens. Switzerland leads as our source of imported cotton laces and watches, and is important in the matter of cheese, silk goods and coal tar. Ireland supplies large quantities of linens.

While the administration of President Woodrow Wilson is no wise responsible for the war in Europe, Standpat Republican organs are trying desperately hard to hold it responsible for the necessity the government is under in the matter of levying a war tax on account of this war. They absolutely refuse to admit that the war has cut imports down, and consequently reduced the revenue usually derived from import duties. In fact, the but one thing—that is, a "high average Standpat editor can see tariff for the protection of our infant industries," notwithstanding some of these so-called infant industries have grown to such proportions that they have almost strangled competition in all part of the world.—Cass County Democrat.

SCHOOL FOR DAIRY AND CREAMERY MEN

Missouri College of Agriculture Has Special Short Course in Dairying.

A course which will prepare a man for a position in any kind of dairy work will open January 4, at the University of Missouri. It is a special short course in dairying to last seven weeks. It will cover every phase of the work. The efficiency of the instruction given is shown by the fact that almost all of the men who have taken the course in the past are doing dairy work now. Some are managers of private dairies, some are testers in cow testing associations, some are butter-makers in creameries and others are makers of ice cream. Men who studied dairying in this course have taken the highest prizes in the Educational Butter Scoring Contest held at Columbia.

The course has classes in receiving, handling, grading, testing and pasteurization of milk. Theory and practice of churning, the study of the factors influencing overrun, moisture and percentages, the making of ice cream, and marketing are other subjects studied. The student is also given a chance to study the production side of dairying. He is taught the care, handling and feeding of the dairy herd.

At the University of Missouri the student gets his instruction in dairying under actual working conditions. He spends half of his time practicing the best dairy methods in the best managed dairy in the state.

P. M. Brandt, Superintendent of the short courses will send out announcements giving cost of board, fees and other information to anyone who writes to him.
